Citation: Sandra Featherman, Ph.D. papers, Sandra and Bernard Featherman University Archives, University of New England, Portland, Maine

Biographical / Historical

Dr. Sandra Featherman was born in Pennsylvania in 1934. She received her B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. in city and regional planning from the University of Pennsylvania. Trained as a political scientist, Dr. Featherman's areas of expertise were in urban politics, ethnic voting, diversity issues, women's leadership and healthcare.

Dr. Featherman's academic career and public service spanned over three decades. Her career in academia began at Temple University in Philadelphia in 1974, where she taught political science and later served as president of the faculty senate, director of the Center for Public Policy and assistant to the president. From 1991-1995, Featherman was vice chancellor for academic administration and professor of political science at the University of Minnesota Duluth (UMD). In 1995, Featherman became president of the University of New England (UNE) in Portland and Biddeford, Maine. Upon her retirement in 2006, the University of New England's Board of Trustees named her President Emeritus.

Dr. Featherman published more than 50 academic publications, as well as numerous magazine and newspaper articles. She also lectured on the topic of women and leadership at several national organizations. In addition to her work in academia, Featherman was an active member of many non-profit organizations, such as the American Association of University Women (AAUW), American Council on Education (ACE), American Osteopathic Association (AOA), City of Philadelphia School Board Nominating Panel, Samuel Fels Fund, Maine Community Foundation and Pennsylvania Council on the Arts and the [Maine] Governor's Blue Ribbon Task Force on Health Care. Her awards included the Distinguished Daughter of Pennsylvania, Administrator of the Year from Minnesota Women in Higher Education, and the Woman of Distinction Award from the International Women's Forum. Dr. Featherman married Bernard Featherman and had two sons, Andrew and John. At the time of her death in 2018, she resided in Highland Beach, Florida and Kennebunkport, Maine.

Scope and Contents

The Sandra Featherman, Ph.D. Papers document the professional, academic, and civic life of Dr. Sandra Featherman (1934–2018), an influential political scientist, university president, and advocate for women's leadership and public policy. The collection spans 1884–2018 and measures 10.5 cubic feet, comprising materials such as correspondence, publications, photographs, speeches, organizational records, and artifacts. The papers reflect Featherman's extensive career in higher education, including her roles at Temple University, University of Minnesota Duluth, and as President of the University of New England (1995–2006). Materials include administrative files, board and committee records, and documentation of her leadership initiatives. The collection also contains research files, drafts, and published works on urban politics, ethnic voting, diversity, and women in leadership, as well as over fifty academic articles, book chapters, and op-eds.

Significant portions of the collection relate to Featherman's involvement in professional and civic organizations such as the American Association of University Women (AAUW), American Council on Education (ACE), and numerous Jewish and philanthropic groups. Additional materials document her service on state commissions, including Maine's Blue Ribbon Panel on Health Care, and her participation in conferences and forums on education, diversity, and public policy. Personal materials include biographical sketches, awards, honors, and family-related items. The collection also features photographs, event programs, and memorabilia from her tenure as university president and her engagement with national and international organizations.
